QUEEN VICTORIA'S JUBILEE.

Fifty years ago next June, Victoria became Queen of Great Britain and Ireland. The event will be celebrated throughout the Empire in a manner worthy of the good and noble Queen. Also by Britishers in foreign lands. Intelligence comes from New York city that the British people there are intending great display on the occasion. Similar intentions are intimated from other colonies of British subjects in foreign countries. And we suggest that the few Britishers on these islands recognise the occasion in some appropriate way. Situated as we are, almost as far distant from Albion's Isle as it is possible to be on this earthly planet, still there is a feeling of loyalty amongst Her Majesty's subjects here as great as, if not greater than, that of those who reside within the heart of the city of London. True, some of them have become naturalized subjects of His Majesty King Kalakaua, but this in nowise lessens their devotion to the land of their nativity or their loyalty to Queen Victoria. A case in point, by way of illustration, is that of Hon. A. S. Cleghorn, who is closely allied to the Hawaiian Royal Family by marriage, being brother-in-law to the King. Yet Mr. Cleghorn has been for years, and still is, an active executive officer of the British Benevolent Society, of this city. A man may be a loyal subject of King Kalakaua, and none the less loyal to Queen Victoria, for our oath of allegiance does not include forswearing allegiance to the land of nativity. So there should be nothing to deter every British-born resident on these islands from uniting in the celebration of the Jubilee of the British Queen's accession to the throne of the Empire.

We would go farther, and suggest that "Cousin Jonathan," as the American is familiarly called in the mother country, be invited to join in the celebration. He is of the same race, the same blood, the same language. These and other ties link the two great nations closely together. They ought never to have quarreled, but to have separated in a friendly way, like a full-grown son leaving his father's house to make a home of his own; and it is to be hoped they will never come to blows again, but amicably settle any differences that may arise by arbitration. Anyhow, the citizens of the United States residing on these islands would doubtless cheerfully unite with the Britishers in celebrating the Queen's Jubilee.

We are just as confident that the German residents would also gladly take part; for they have a national interest in the British Sovereign. Her family is strongly tinged with German blood. Her son-in-law is likely to become ere long the ruler of the great German Empire.

With regard to Hawaii, we venture to aver that King Kalakaua, the King's Ministers, and the King's people would cordially countenance the celebration, should the Britishers resident here see fit to act on our suggestion, which would tend to strengthen the ties at present existing between the two countries.

If the simple suggestion be deemed worthy of adoption, no time should be lost in beginning preparations to carry it into effect. The first step should be to form a committee, with Major Wodehouse, H. B. M. Commissioner, as president.

COMPLAINT FROM LILIA STREET

The lower end of Lilia street, from King street to the rise of the hill about half way to the junction with School street, is in a shocking condition. The people residing in that locality are loud and earnest in their complaint. And well they may be: for a worse piece of public thoroughfare can scarcely be found anywhere. In dry weather it is bad, being full of mounds and depressions. In wet weather, as at present, it is superlatively bad. The holes become mud puddles, and locomotion for both carriages and pedestrians is extremely difficult. It is a very long time since anything was done on the portion of the street referred to; and this fact, in addition to its almost impassable condition, is cited by those interested as a reason why they are entitled to some attention now. The Hon. Jas. Kean, one of the members for Honolulu, exerted himself in the Legislature on behalf of those people, and by his persistent efforts succeeded in getting a special vote of $1,200 placed on the Appropriation Bill for their benefit.

In view of all these facts, they consider their request that something should be done for the improvement of their street, right and reasonable. We think so, too. The annual taxes are coming in, and the Government can find money to send an expensive Commission, with costly equipments, to Samoa; and these poor taxpayers are kept whistling for the $1,200 appropriated for their street, and hitherto they have whistled in vain. Are they to continue whistling for ever, and sticking in mud up to their middles?

THE RAIN-FALL.

A heavy rainfall set in yesterday afternoon, and with the exception of a few short intervals, it rained steadily and heavily throughout the night. At the residence of Dr. McKibbin the rain gauge indicated 3.12 inches, while the Survey Department report 4 inches at the foot of Punchbowl.

It would seem to be a dispensation of Providence, that our streets should be cleaned by nature (the authorities having neglected that important duty) before Xmas Day. When our senior morning contemporary, or as it sometimes termed, the "Government organ," devotes half a column of its valuable space to a leading article, on "Our Streets and Roads," describing them as being in a "disgraceful condition," and denouncing the Administration for its laxity and neglect, at the same time tendering a quasi-apology for the present incumbent of the Interior Department, Mr. Aholo, the citizens of Honolulu cannot be surprised that the DAILY BULLETIN, "pledged to neither sect nor party," should also have a voice in this matter.

There are several phases of this question of filth, for we know no fitter term, but in our opinion the sanitary aspect of the case is the most important. That several cases of malarial fevers have of late existed in this city, a few of which have proved fatal, is a matter too well known to be reiterated. Typhoid fever, though not purely malarial, is favored by the existence of filth. If not contagious, it is, at least, communicable, a statement for which we have eminent medical authority, and that it prevailed, in this city, and does so at present, is a truth, patent to every medical gentleman who is engaged in the active pursuit of his profession. How much the dirty condition of the streets may have had to do with the originating or accelerating of these fevers it is hard to say, but it is safe to assert that it in no way tends to improve the public health.

Our desire is to impress the authorities with the necessity of completing the scavenging work commenced by the rain, by removing the garbage that still remains.

SUPREME COURT.

AT CHAMBERS.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 22nd.

Before Preston, J. H. R. Macfarlane vs. Cecil Brown. Reply of a horse; damage; $10. Messrs. Whiting and Creighton for plaintiff, defendant for himself. This was an appeal from the Police Court, where judgment had been rendered on September 13th for the restitution of the horse. The case was continued until to-day at 1:30 p. m. Before Judd, C. J. In the estate of Wm. M. Wenner, deceased. The executor, Hugh E. McIntire, filed his supplementary account and asked that he be allowed costs of the contest and $50 for his lawyer's fees. After brief arguments of counsel the Court declined to grant the request. The executor reported the sum of $533.33 returned by August Wenner paid by him, the executor, on account of wages, which the Court found was excessive. The balance due the heirs after modifying the accounts is $2,073.52, which amount was ordered to be paid into Court, the supplementary account being approved and the executor discharged. Mr. R. F. Bickerton for the executor, Mr. W. A. Kinney for the heirs.

Before McCully J. In the estate of Mochookahi (W.), of Koolapoko, Oahu, deceased. Application by the husband for letters of administration. Decedent in her lifetime was trustee for a minor named Kahua (W) and had deposited savings in Bishop & Co.'s bank to the credit of said minor to the order of the deceased. The amount so deposited was stated to be over $700, no other property being reported. The Court appointed Kaiwe Moioke (K) administrator of the estate, under bond of $700; also, guardian of the person and property of the minor. Mr. W. L. Holokahiki for petitioner.

Before Preston, J. Wong Kim vs. J. H. Soper, trover. The grounds of the action are that the defendant did unlawfully convert to his own use 363 tins of opium of the value of $1,270.50. The case was heard and decision reserved.

A. B. Kerr vs. E. E. Mayhew, L. Ascu, garnishee. Mr. L. A. Thurston for plaintiff, Hon. Paul Neumann, for defendant. This was a claim of $475 for work and labor done and material used in painting and papering the residence of Hon. Paul Neumann. Judgment was ordered to be entered against defendant for $298 and costs.

W. R. Castle vs. Charles Michiel, C. O. Berger, garnishee. Plaintiff appeared in his own behalf, Hon. Neumann, and Messrs. Whiting & Creighton for defendant. Continued by agreement and order of the Court until the three insurance cases, in which defendant in this case is plaintiff, to be heard in the January term, shall have been decided.

PREPARATIONS FOR XMAS AT ST. ANDREW'S CATHEDRAL.

The Christmas Day services at St. Andrew's Cathedral will be unusually attractive. The chancel of the new building has been arranged for occupation, and the cathedral people rejoice in having at last a fit place for public worship. The arrangements of the interior although temporary are convenient and cheerful. The decorations of vines and flowers show to good advantage. The singers, especially the choir of the second congregation, have taken much pains to make the musical part of the services worthy of the inspiring occasion. The collections during the day will be for the Building Fund, with special reference to providing for the expense of preparing the church for present occupancy, removing the organ and putting the church grounds in order. Bishop Willis will preach at 9:30 and the Rev. Geo. Wallace at 11:15 A. M. The aims at all the services will be for the Building Fund with special reference to meeting the expenses of removal into the new building.
